Dear Patients and Friends,

Since 1968, Georgetown Pediatrics, P.C. has been proudly serving the Greater Atlanta area and suburbs. Following the original establishment in the Georgetown neighborhood of Dunwoody, we have expanded our footprint to three other locations in Alpharetta, Cumming, and Johns Creek. We have remained steadfast in our commitment to you, our patients and the communities alike. Unfortunately, we will be closing the Dunwoody Office on December 21st. Additionally, after 22 years of tireless and dedicated service to Georgetown Pediatrics, Dr. Annette Hinchcliffe will be retiring from full time private practice December as well. We will miss Dr. Hinchcliffe and wish her all the best during this transition.

With the aforementioned announcement, Dr. Daliannys Morales, currently the lead physician at the Dunwoody Office, will then assume the full-time lead physician role at the Johns Creek location. Dr. Douglas Williams will remain the lead physician in the Cumming Office, Drs. Stephen Smith and Susan Chastain will continue to rotate between the Johns Creek and Cumming Offices.

The closing of this office will allow us to better deploy our resources, and continue serving you with the same passion and enthusiasm. We are writing to inform you as we begin this transition. Our offices in Cumming and Johns Creek will remain open for uninterrupted care for all patients and families.

Serving you at the Dunwoody location has been an integral part of our delivery strategy and hope we have been a catalyst in the growth and development of your children. During this period of transition, we will actively work to achieve the continuity of care for our patients. We are available to answer all your questions, so do not hesitate to contact us. Please know that we will continue to be available for all your healthcare needs. If you choose to select a new physician, you will need to complete an authorization to release your medical records so that we can forward a copy to your new physician. Should you decide to transition to another practice, we will be available to assist you. If you choose to pick up the copy of your records, you can do so until December 21, 2018.

Thank you for having chosen our practice and it has been our honor to serve and continue being your Pediatrician of choice, responsible for your children's healthcare needs.

Kindest Regards,

Douglas L. Williams, MD, FAAP
